The Mineralogical Kingdom – Crystals Preparation Methodology

Dedication:

Upon receiving your new IFE AXE piece (crystal), a dedication is always recommended. This may be accomplished by holding the piece while consciously “willing” that the piece be used only in love, in light, and for the good of all.

Cleansing the Crystal:

Removal of the accumulation of negative energies, or particularly after someone else has touched your piece after you have been wearing it.

There are a multitude of methods which have been utilized for crystal cleansing. The following methods are recommended for IFE AXE Creative Design signature Jewelry Pieces:

- Take the crystal to the sea, cleanse in sea water [via allowing the water to “wash” over it], and energize in the sun.
- Smudge the crystal [e.g., with sweet grass, cedar, sage, incense, etc.]. This method of cleansing has been used for centuries by Native American and Native African tribal cultures.
- Place the crystal on a large crystal cluster or on another mineral [which is a specific energizer] for 12-24 hours.
- Beam white light from the area of the third-eye and surround the crystal, sweeping any negativity to a black hole which is filled with a white light; the white light in the black hole transforms the negativity to a positive light energy such that the negativity is released from existence. Concentration and intention must be maintained.

- Surround the Piece with a visualized white or golden light, intending any present negativity to be transformed to positive light energy. . Concentration and intention must be maintained
 - Move a Tape de-magnetizer up and down the length of the piece, removing and dissipating the negative vibratory essences.
 - Cleanse the piece in flowing spring, river, lake or tap water and energize in the sun. [Water is the universal cleanser and is effective in cleansing undesirable energies from all physical forms.]
 - Soak the piece in flowers [e.g., rose petals, orange blossoms, honeysuckle, etc.] for twenty four hours; the essence strips away negativity and cleanses the stone while the purity and energy of the flower is transmitted to the stone.
 - Soak the piece in brown rice for twenty four hours; the rice balances and centers the energy, removing the negativity, while dissipating and transforming the negative to the positive. Upon completion of the “soak” the rice is purified and energized and is quite wonderful to eat.

Awakening Crystals:

During the times of ancient civilization, tribal ceremonies involved the activation of crystals. Once a year, North American Indians and Native Africans ran, with the head shaman of their respective tribes, to the ocean to awaken the crystals held by the tribe. Upon arriving at the ocean, the shaman or tribal medicine man hit a large rock with the base of the crystal. It was said that if the crystal broke, the world would end. Although this appears to be a drastic consequence, in actuality, only the world of the shaman would possibly end – due to the large amount of energy which would be released from the crystal.

Crystals have also been awakened via:

- Impacting the crystal upon the energized sand of the ocean beaches and/or sand dunes.
- Sounding a meditative gong in proximity to the crystal [this method stimulates the activation of the resonance of the crystal]; and
- Gently sounding Tibetan prayer bells [or other bells] in proximity to the crystal [this method aligns the energy of the crystal structure such that it can be efficiently directed]

Charging Crystals:

- Place the crystal on a large crystal cluster.
- Place the crystal in the center of a circle, where the circle is comprised of other crystals whose terminations are pointing toward the center.
- Place the crystal in sunlight and/or in the light of the moon; the days related to the summer and winter solstices, the vernal equinox, the autumnal equinox, the full moon, and the new moon are more heavily charged.

Pre-Programming Crystals:

Prior to any specialized crystal programming, the following pre-programming is recommended:

- Program the crystal to receive Divine will such that the results will reflect actualization for the good of all.
- Program the crystal for the production of light.

Programming:

Programming is the process of instructing the energies of the crystal in the method in which to use its qualities of transformation, stability, and attunement. Precise directions are required, or the response will be less than that which is intended. [This precision in intent is beneficial training for those utilizing crystals – with the use of crystals; one may also become “crystal clear” in the use of personal energies.]

The act of holding a crystal and intending to use it for a specific purpose is the simplest form of programming [e.g., healing or meditation crystals].

Another method, primarily relevant to the programming of thoughts, and universal energies which are inherent to the mineralogical formation, involves the following:

- Formulate a precise phrase which accurately describes the nature of the programming [i.e., angelic/other – worldly communication, harmony, balance, love, special healing or protection for someone, etc.]
- Hold the crystal in the left hand [if left-handed, hold the crystal in the right hand], relax for several minutes, initiate circular breathing, and center the consciousness. Consciously align the personal conscious awareness with the higher-self and/or other [pre-defined] appropriate other-worldly beings.
- Ask for guidance, protection, and assistance in the programming process. Open the center of consciousness and allow receptivity to flow through the inner being.
- Repeat the formulated phrase 20-30 times in succession while visualizing and/or feeling the desired effect of the program. [Be open to higher assistance during this process]

As the phrase is repeated, an energy field will build and culminate in the energy pattern necessary to represent the desired program.

- While maintaining full awareness of the energy field, bring total awareness and consciousness to the area of the third-eye or the heart chakra. Place the crystal in front of the area of the third-eye or the heart chakra and allow the self to feel the connection with it.
- Direct the energy field into the crystal for 30-60 seconds and allow the program to be transferred to within the crystal. Intuitive recognition will signal when the transmittal is complete.
- Detach consciousness from the crystal and allow the universal energies to act.
